

Blue and red battleground

LIKELY 2020 ELECTORAL COLLEGE RESULTS

Note: Maine and Nebraska allow for their electoral votes to be split between candidates by congressional districts. The winner within each congressional district gets one electoral vote for the district. The winner of the statewide vote gets two additional electoral votes.
